Today at 10:30 a. m. at 516 Ninth Street Northwest, third floor, there will be a meeting of Washington Local No. 10 of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, called to consider a number of important subjects of interest to local exhibitors, including the holding of a convention of exhibitors in Washington and sending delegates to the New York convention in July.

assassination, which, according to advance accounts of "The Toll of War," soon to be released, is one of the scenes in this film, is not considered by many local exhibitors as an appropriate sub-ject for exhibition. In a protest against showing such a picture a lady says: "It would be uncalled for and unpatriotic and altogether contrary to what is growing to be considered the great force for good which the motion picture is rec-ognized as being, and it is to be hoped no one here will show a picture having such a scene in connection with a plot."

Quite a hunch of letters have been re ceived from the Vitagraph "Globe Trot-ters." dated from Cairo, Egypt, where they expect to remain for some time Maurice Costello writes very enthusias-tically about the trip, and tells of some interesting Egyptian photoplays on which the party is now working. A number of local admirers of Mr. Costello have received post cards from him dated Tokyo, Japan; Hong Kong, China, and other

Other-day Justice.

From the Fort Worth Record.

If we were asked to name defect in our government most univer-sally criticised and condemned, we would point unhesitatingly to the fail-ure of courts to punish for murder. It no longer shocks us to hear it said when a man is arrested for murder, "Oh, he'll get out of it, all right." Such remarks usually lead to depreca-tion of the courts and juries and lam-entation over the tendency of the times to hold human life too cheap to hang anybody for taking it unlawfully. By inferrence, at least, we assume that in other days judges and juries sternly anybody for taking it unlawfully. By inferrence, at least, we assume that in other days judges and juries sternly enforced the law in striking contrast with the leniency of present-day judges and juries. Yet, turning back thirty-five years, we not this paragraph in the San Antonio Express of March 6, 1880.

"An ignorant and evidently prejudiced An ignorant and evidently prejudiced jury at Houstan nas had the effrontery to violate nearly all the rules of precedent in Texas and find a murderer guilty. The press and people of that city seem to be unanimous in their indorsement of the singular conduct of the jury and have no hesitation in saying so."

From which it appears that the dic-tum about there being nothing new under the sun applies to states of mind as well as to material things.

groen the New York American.

K. M. Turner, inventor of the dicto-graph, has rigged up the buildings or his farm at West Nyack with a unique burgiar alarm system to trap chicker thieves.

Turner is a poultry fancier and keeps hundreds of heas on his Ridge Egg farm that have more than once proved tempting to prowlers. After considerable study he devised a wire system that can be made to do the work of a telephone, hurriage alarm or dictorraph.

be made to do the work of a telephone, burgiar alarm, or dictograph.

The contrivance is used during the day as a telephone system to the various farm buildings, which are connected with the superintendent's residence. When the lights go out on the farm-the turning of a switch transforms the device into a burgiar alarm.

A dictograph connected with telephone wires is located in the superintendent's wires is located in the superintendent's bedroom. When the slarm sounds the superintendent, by listening to the dic-tograph, can determine from the con-versation among the robbers how many ere in the party.

Once he knows what force he has to cope with he presses buttons that call out the farmhands with shotguns, and the thieves can be surrounded before one chicken's neck is wrong.

PROFIT AND PLEASURE IN POULTRY.

Kinety per cent of the city people who seek homes in the country have their minds on a flock of poultry, even though they do not design to take up poultry culture as a business. It is the universal opinion that there is money in poultry, and so there is when properly managed. Be the flock large or small, it the ruralist to have a fine flock of fowl. He not only has fresh eggs and poultry for his table, but there are great hunks of satisfaction in being pos sessed of such birds. It is not the desire of the majority of town folk who secure homes in the country to establish a poultry plant on a large scale, but they desire to produce a variety of crops, largely composed of vegetables, fruits and flowers, and keep a variety of animals. Poultry, of course, comes in for its share of attention.

Under this heading the Washington Herald will insert advertising devoted to Poultry Raising and Selling, and all lines related to the
